Today, I went west door east to talk to John William Jordan; son of George Borlan Jordan, and grandson of John Jordan - one of six original first pioneers into Wasatch County.

"Bill" Jordan related to me the story of how his uncle Allen Jordan moved away from the ranch in Jordanelle, and George Borlan Jordan moved Allen's home down to West 100 North when he purchased that piece of ground from "Jim" Campbell (his home still stands on about 170 West 100 North - Sandstone). George B. Jordan used 6 horses to drag this home from Jordanelle to its present site.

"Bill" (J.W.) Jordan then related how he played with Dewey Moulton who lived on the east corner of that block. That was a red brick (hand made sun dried brick) home of Dewey's Father - John Ephraim Moulton. John E. Moulton and Fredrick Giles - across the road neighbors, built their homes at the same time said Ralph F. Giles one day to me Dr R.R. Green.

"Bill" Jordan went on to say that it is his impression that his grandfather John Jordan built his fort cabin on the same corner as John E. Moulton home in pioneer days before John E.

Moulton owned that corner.

"Bill" J. does not remember his father ever discussing this subject, but it is his feeling this corner of 100 East and 200 North was the southeast corner of old Fort Heber.
